Total Expense	0.50%	0.33%
Transaction Costs	0.05%	0.05%

1 Year Total Expense	0.50%	0.33%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Commentary

Fund review

The fund's return was in line with its strategic benchmark over the quarter. All allocations contributed as expected towards the overall performance of the fund.

Market overview

Q3 commenced with some enthusiasm around a positive outlook on corporate earnings and optimism surrounding a potential end to the rate hiking cycle. However, this was precluded by a continued hawkish stance by the Fed and an escalation of geopolitical tensions between Russia and the West. The hopes that the market held up were short-lived as the Federal Reserve increased the interest rate by 75 bps during the September meeting, echoing the reaffirmation to fight inflationary pressures as stated during the Jackson Hole summit. Furthermore, the European Central Bank followed suit with a 75-bps increase in a quest to meet its medium-term expectation of 2% rates. In the US, GDP fell by -0.6% signalling a potential recession, contrary to the non-farm payrolls data that had added 315,000 payrolls, with new job additions mostly in the business and professional sectors indicating resilience in the US economy. In the Eurozone, all sectors posted negative returns, amid growing energy costs concerns escalated by Russia's decision to shut down the Nord Stream pipeline as a form of retaliation against imposed sanctions. The combination of GDP concerns, the energy crisis and soaring inflation resulted in the Euro seeing a 20-year low against the US Dollar. In the UK, Liz Truss was elected as the new prime minister, inheriting an already unstable economic environment. The introduction of the UK government's fiscal stimulus package was met with criticism by the market and resulted in an all-time low for the Sterling against the dollar. Asian equity markets finished lower in Q3 amid the ongoing Russia-Ukraine war, growing concerns of COVID-19 lockdowns, inflation and heightened tension between Taiwan and China. Locally, the manufacturing sector in South Africa has seen a deterioration because of continuing load shedding. PMI was recorded at 48.2 in September 2022. Global markets felt the pressure and were mainly in the red over the third quarter with the MSCI World falling -6.6%, MSCI EM -12.5%, and the MSCI EMEA -6.3%, which was its best improvement this year. Local indices plummeted over the quarter with the Top 40 falling -2.7%, All Share -1.9%, Capped SWIX ALSI -2.4%. Bonds outperformed with ALBI gaining 0.6%. The ZAR saw continued weakness due to the strength of the USD and risk aversion globally, weakening by -11.1%.

Looking ahead

An analysis of the local and global macroeconomic environment indicates that markets are still facing significant obstacles from soaring inflation, continued interest rate increases and geopolitical tensions. There is an expectation that the Fed may still pivot given various inflationary indicators signalling a peak in inflation. If Fed estimations indicating an end to the rate hiking cycle come sooner than the market expects, this will likely positively influence the bond and stock markets. However, the increased aggressive stance by the Fed may be a catalyst for entering a recession. Moreover, this is supported by the inversion of the yield curve in the US which has been a historical warning for a recession. As the geopolitical tensions remain heightened, an escalated war may be on the horizon resulting in broad supply chain pressures with accompanying cost-push inflation pushing Russian allies like China to have a more definitive stance. Locally, loadshedding is expected to continue having a negative impact on production and consequently on the unemployment rates leading to more risk to the country's already fragile economy. There is a belief that the ZAR may recover to R16/USD levels by the first quarter of 2023 as the bearish stance of the market has already been factored into the exchange rate.
