Investment objective

An actively managed, low risk income fund that employs an active asset allocation with the primary objective of providing income for investors in the short-term, with nominal capital preservation over the medium-term (after investment management fees) as an important secondary objective. The fund may invest in local equities, bonds, cash and international assets. Equities (hedged and unhedged) are included in the fund in order to provide a long-term inflation hedge. The fund forms part of Momentum's post-retirement income fund range, but may also be selected as a stand-alone investment fund.

Positioning the post-retirement income fund solutions

The fund forms part of Momentum's long-term, post-retirement income solution fund range. These post-retirement income solution funds have been developed with LISPA's Code on Linked Annuities (CLA) as the cornerstone of design.

The funds are structured as long-term income solutions, but short-term volatility and capital fluctuations may occur due to the underlying asset composition of the fund. The probability of experiencing a capital loss or underperforming the respective fund benchmark decreases as the investment term increases.

The introduction of the post-retirement income solution funds is an enhancement of the already successful LifeCycle Philosophy and is designed to complete the solution-based offering for investors by incorporating the wealth accumulation phase and income phase holistically and managing an investor's assets over his/her lifetime. The move between income solution funds is based on the investor's age.

The fund aims to strike a balance between the need for income in the short-term and real capital preservation over the medium-term.

SA equity valuations have improved meaningfully due to a flat market in recent years and an earnings rebound from a low base. Nevertheless, political tensions have shattered domestic confidence, which remains negative for locally-produced earnings.

Breakevens are expected to compress further in line with falling inflation. We continue to favour nominal bonds over ILBs, as lower expected inflation is fundamentally negative for ILBs.

Domestic cash is expected to deliver decent risk-adjusted returns in a low-return environment. However, reinvestment risk is set to increase in response to a further reduction in local interest rates.

Returns illustrated above apply to lump sum investments. Past performance of any investment is not necessarily a guide to the future. Fluctuations in the value of the underlying assets, and the income derived from these assets and changes in interest rates, mean that the value of an investment may fall as well as rise. All performances are illustrated net of investment management fees, except where otherwise stated. An investment in the fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.
