FUND OBJECTIVE

The fund strives for long-term capital growth as well as some level of capital protection. Through the use of a quantitative risk model, the fund aims to profit from a rising share market and protect against capital losses in a weak market.

WHO IS THIS FUND FOR?

This fund is suited to investors who strive for long-term capital growth as well as some level of capital protection.

INVESTMENT MANDATE

The fund invests across shares, bonds and cash and may gain exposure to foreign assets up to a maximum of 45% of its portfolio – moving from shares into fixed interest investments when the fund's value drops below a predetermined "floor". When markets start to move up, the fund increases its holdings in shares, tapping into these growth opportunities. Derivatives may also be tactically used to manage and limit downside risk and to capture or lock in gains as and when they occur.

REGULATION 28 COMPLIANCE

The fund complies with retirement fund legislation. It is therefore suitable as a stand-alone fund in retirement products where Regulation 28 compliance is specifically required.

Global risk assets continued their march upwards in the first quarter of 2024. While the rally has broadened, US and technology shares maintained their leadership. Nascent signs of improving activity, a good results season and improving financial conditions helped equity markets shrug off concerns around the path for interest rates. Oil prices were up 14%, presenting a challenge to the pace of disinflation over the remainder of the year. The combination was unhelpful for global bonds, with the US 10-year Treasury yield rising by 30 basis points (bps) over the quarter. This resulted in global equities delivering 9% for the quarter, while global bonds were down 3% (both in US dollars).

Moderate rand weakness and poor domestic performance meant South African assets again lagged their global counterparts. Stagnant growth in China remained unhelpful, while domestic earnings were impacted by the myriad of electricity and logistical challenges, as well as a tough environment for consumers. Domestic bond yields continued to grind higher, ending the quarter back above 12%. This was despite a reasonable National Budget in February, as foreign investors remained absent while the asset class is already well owned by local fund managers. The net result was similar outcomes for South African bonds and equities, both down around 2% for the quarter in rands. Domestic property was a relatively bright spot. Having bottomed in the last quarter of 2024, the sector continued to rerate from depressed levels, ending the quarter up 4%.

The fund return for the quarter was positive, ahead of local equities but lower than broad offshore equity indices, which have risen dramatically since November of last year. The fund has moderate effective equity exposure (including property) of 52%. While the allocation to local interest-bearing assets remains sizeable, we trimmed nominal bond exposure post the rally towards the end of last year. We topped up exposure to inflation-linked bonds, which currently offer a real yield in the region of 5% for the 10-year bond. The fund has small holdings in gold and local listed property, which contributed to returns during the quarter. One of the currency hedging structures employed in the fund expired in March, thereby allowing foreign-denominated assets to benefit fully from any further rand weakness. We still maintain some protection from rand strength and will seek opportunities to further protect the fund from unfavourable fluctuations in the value of the rand.

The global outlook remains highly uncertain and fragmented by region. In the US, the full impact of rapid rate hikes is yet to be felt, valuations appear stretched, and the risk of a market sell-off is not insignificant. As a result, risk management has become an increasingly important component of investment considerations. The fund strategy of moving in and out of risky assets as and when needed is appropriate in this highly uncertain environment. As always, we seek to invest in the optimal blend of assets that offer growth and capital protection, in line with our dual risk and return objectives.

Please note: Class B1 is available through investment platforms such as Old Mutual Wealth.

TER is a historic measure of the impact the deduction of management and operating costs has on a fund's value. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER, which includes the annual service fee, may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. Transaction Cost (TC) is a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.
